It is easy to hang on wall, easy to program and change semi-permanent or temporary settings, easy to read the current and upcoming situation and schedule. It has lots of zones (6). Wiring connections are a snap (easy).One issue that can matter a great deal: It only allows watering up to 4 times per day on any zone. Let's say you have a lawn and garden where the ground is not flat, not level. Water will run off instead of soaking in. You want it to soak in, not run off towards your house, or towards the sidewalk, or towards the driveway.During the first few minutes of watering, water will sink in, even on a sloped surface. But then as the ground becomes water soaked, the water from further sprinkling will partially run off and not soak in.The solution is to water a bit, and then wait a bit, and the water again, and then wait, water, wait, water etc.In very many, perhaps most, areas of America the number of days a week you can legally water is 3,2, or even 1 day per week. These restrictions are increasing each year. If you have no restrictions yet, their might be a good chance you will, in a year or three.4 waterings per day is actually 4 waterings per week in a 1 day per week legal location. The city or county will drive around randomly and inspect and level steep lines where I live. It is going to be more and more common over the next few years. But not that big of a problem if your timer allows 6 watering per day.This shortcoming with this model will hardly matter if your lawn and garden is flat or if your climate is such as to never be lacking in rainfall, and therefore likely to remain restriction free.Rainbird has lots of models. Some allow 1 watering per zone each day. Some allow 4. Some allow 6.You already are paying attention to the number of zones allowed. Please pay attention to the number of waterings per day allowed too.Because of the great features I mentioned earlier, I rate this timer controller 5 stars! (Actually even more if I could). Rain Bird 32ETI Easy to Install In-Ground Automatic Sprinkler System Kit. This all-in-one kit includes everything needed to install a complete underground sprinkler system capable of watering an area from 1000 to 3,000 square feet; conveniently enjoying your yard instead of worrying about watering it. Kit provides all the supplies necessary for a simple five-step installation. Kit consists of: 125' of 1/2" distribution tubing, fittings, (6) professional grade high-efficiency 32SA pop-up rotary sprinklers and a durable, professional-grade automatic 1ZEHTMR hose-end timer. The dependable 32SA Rotors feature Rain Bird's patented Rain Curtain, a nozzle technology which delivers a rotating curtain of large water droplets that fall exactly where you want them and resist windblown overspray. Water disperses evenly from nozzle to end of stream to reduce watering time and save money. "Micro Ramps" on nozzle direct a portion of the spray close to the head eliminating dry brown spots common with other brands. Provides a true 4" pop-up height to clear taller grass. Simple adjustments for spray rotation and distance help keep water on your lawn and off the house, sidewalk and driveway. Water-lubricated, gear-driven design provides long-lasting dependability. A dual-action, positive-stop wiper seal protects the internals from debris while assuring positive pop-up and retraction. Adjusts easily from 40Å to 360Å part-circle arc, and reversing full-circle arc rotation using a flat head screwdriver. The robust 1ZEHTMR hose-end timer features a large display and simple programming allowing users to enter a desired watering schedule for any days of the week they choose up to two times a day. The sophisticated, yet simple timer is easily customizable to comply with local watering restrictions or other specific needs, such as watering sloped areas and avoiding runoff. "Water Now" and "Cancel Watering" settings provide optimal control without interrupting pre-programmed settings. Cancel Watering feature also operates as a "Rain Delay" allowing selection of up to a 96-hour pause in watering before stored programming resumes. Timer working temperatures: keep from freezing to 110Å F maximum. Operates on two AA batteries (not included). Rain Bird "The Intelligent Use of Water".
